Pale Faces

Pale-faced, weak, and shaky women—who suffer every day with womanly weakness—need the help of a gentle tonic, with a building action on the womanly system. If you are weak—you need Cardui, the woman's tonic, because Cardui will act directly on the cause of your trouble. Cardui has a record of more than 50 years of success. It must be good.

E 60 Take CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Effie Graham, of Willard, Ky., says: "I was so weak I could hardly go. I suffered, nearly every month, for 3 years. When I began to take Cardui, my back hurt awfully. I only weighed 99 pounds. Not long after, I weighed 115. Now, I do all my work, and am in good health." Begin taking Cardui, today.

District Court, Continued from Last Week

Six applications of foreign born persons for naturalization as citizens of the United States were granted as follows: John Frederick Bergland, Raimund Nekuda, Vincene Konec, Otto Dunsin Laursen, Karl John Stern, Marrus Laursen. One application, that of Rodger Joseph Simons, was continued.

There were a number of state cases for gambling, some being on the docket at the opening of court and the grand jury bringing in some indictments. Some of these were continued, some were acquitted and some plead guilty and were fined in amounts from one hundred dollars and costs up to three hundred dollars and costs. The Herald believes that the law against gambling should be enforced and is pleased to note the efficient work that is being done by the prosecuting attorney in this respect, but we note further that the fines levied are pretty stiff, ample we think to adequately punish the violators of the anti-gambling law and as we fail to see that any good purpose would be served by publishing names, we deem it best to omit the same.

In the case of the State vs. Selbert Gillispie and John Phenning, the boys were paroled to their parents.

State vs. Oscar O'Bannon, charged with assault, defendant plead guilty and was fined $25 and costs.

A number of cases were continued, including Charles E. Wiltsey vs. C. B. & Q. Ry. Co.; John M. Dineen vs. Maverick Loan & Trust Co.; Ben Swanson vs. Ora E. and Luke Phillips; Julia Forstrom vs. James Hollenrake; Howard L. Bushnell vs. Herman Schultalber, et al.; Chas. Herbert vs. C. Herbert; Dutcher vs. Anderson; J. Rowan vs. Herbert Anderson and wife; De France Cattle Co. vs. C. B. & Q. Ry. Co.; John Wallis vs. C. A. Anderson; Fred W. Rehder vs. Anna Kipp; William Mitchell vs. Frank Wilson; Nelson Fletcher estate vs. Frank Wilson estate; George P. Gmie vs. C. B. & Q. Ry. Co.; Hezikiah M. Wilson vs. Joseph H. Vaughn; Steven F. Bangs vs. Belle Brown.

Charles E. Wiltsey vs. Isaac Rocky cancelled by agreement.

W. T. Ikner vs. Fred W. Dick dismissed at plaintiff's cost.

H. L. Bushnell vs. Belle Brown dismissed at plaintiff's cost.

In the matter of B. F. Gilman, guardian of the estate of W. M. Ball and Edith G. Ball, minors, for leave to sell real estate, sale confirmed and deed ordered.

CORRESPONDENCE

HASHMAN ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. Fleharty and family were callers at Mr. Skinner's, one day last week.

The people of this vicinity are rejoicing over the fine weather that we have been having for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Skinner were callers at the home of their daughter last Sunday.

We hear that some of the neighbors of this vicinity are prophesying a good season for crops next summer, and are intending to put in large crops of small grain, corn and potatoes.

A couple of the Snake Creek boys with their pack of hounds were seen one day last week hunting for coyotes and any other ferocious animals they might find.

MALINDA SQUIBS

We seem to be having real California weather now.

Lein Derr came home Sunday, the first time this winter, but doesn't say whether there is some other attraction that has kept him away, or the cold weather.

Mr. Dean went to Minature Monday, returning Tuesday with a load of goods for his store.

Mrs. Annie Denton returned from Alliance Wednesday.

Bert Miller and Chas. Green followed their noses to Alliance Wednesday.

County Commissioner Waneck was visiting this corner of the county on Thursday.

Quite a number from Malinda attended the singing school at the Robinson school house Thursday evening.

MOUNT PLEASANT

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Worley have gone to Kansas on a visit, and Tony and Fanny Gillshannon are running the ranch for them till they return.

Miss Shirley Hagaman is staying with rs. J. C. Hawkins while he is courting.

Aurrita Malley and Mrs. P. S. Malley were calling on Mrs. Geo. Hagaman Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. J. C. Hawkins and Miss Shirley Hagaman were visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Clark Tuesday.

Mr. Miller Hagaman is doing chores for J. C. Hawkins at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wright were visiting Mrs. J. C. Hawkins and family Sunday.

Mrs. Sil Coker is busy hauling hay to Alliance this week, taking advantage of the fine weather.

NEWSPAPER OF 204 PAGES

Fort Worth Star-Telegram Issues Great Development Edition

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram recently issued a mammoth annual development edition of 204 pages, the largest edition of this nature ever published in a city of less than 100,000 population in the world and setting a new mark for Texas and the southwest.

This very readable edition contained forty-three full page feature layouts devoted to churches, educational institutions, streets, parks, civic achievements, etc., and bears 665 columns of advertising, a pretty good indication of the healthy condition of the Texas city and the confidence of its people in the Star-Telegram. From The American Press, Jan. 20.

LOSE 600 HEAD OF CATTLE

From Custer County Herald, Jan. 25: C. W. Kreamer, a Hyannis ranchman, stopped off at Broken Bow a day on business while returning Friday from a trip to Omaha. He says that the late ultra cold weather has forced the stockmen to feed more hay than usual and that the supply will not be adequate if the spring should be late. Sheds have not been prepared for all of the stock, and the cattle have not been able to lay down in the snow, or if they did they were so chilled that often they were not able to get up again. One herd of 600 perished, probably as a result of stepping on an icy hill and piling up at the bottom of the toboggan slide.

Don't plant seed corn that won't grow

Men from the state experiment station who have examined samples of the best seed corn exhibited at the local corn shows, short courses and farmer's institutes all over the state say that only from 10 to 60 per cent of the samples submitted will grow.

How to test seed corn

Enough ears to plant twenty acres can be tested in a single day with home made tester. Take a box six inches deep and about two or three feet in size. Fill the box about half full of moist dirt, sand or sawdust. Press it well down so it will have a smooth even surface. Now take a white cloth about the size of the box, rule it off checkerboard fashion, making squares one and one-half inches each way. Number the checks 1, 2, 3 and so on. Place this over the sand, dirt or sawdust.

Take the ears to be tested and either lay them out on the floor and mark a number in front of each or attach a numbered tag. Now take off about six kernels from each ear (not all from the same place, but at several points on all sides.) Put these kernels on the squares corresponding in number to those placed on the ears of corn. Be careful not to get them mixed. Keep the ears numbered to correspond EXACTLY with the numbers on the squares of cloth.

After the kernels have been placed carefully on the cloth which covers the moist sand, dirt or sawdust, cover them with another cloth, considerably larger than the box; cover this cloth with about two inches of the same moist sand and keep the box in a warm place. It must not get cold.

The kernels will germinate in four to six days.

Remove the cover carefully to avoid displacing the kernels. Examine them carefully. Some will have long sprouts but almost no roots; others will not have grown at all, but the kernels from ears which will produce corn if planted will have both sprouts and a good root system.

Compare the numbers on the squares with those on the ears. Put back into the feeding corn bin the ears which correspond in number to the numbers on the squares where the kernels did not grow or where they showed only weak roots.

The ears numbered corresponding to those on the cloth which showed strong signs of life are the ones to preserve for seed. Every kernel from these ears should produce a stalk, every stalk an ear.

A number of more convenient seed corn testers are manufactured for sale. They are all good—any implement dealer or seed house will know where to get them.

A MAN requires more in working-clothing than mere covering or protection for his other garments and there is something to be considered in Overalls, Jackets, Shirts, etc., besides the weight of the material. Other important features are durability, comfort, satisfaction and economy.

TO obtain these desirable things the garments must be cut to fit and made for service—two items that always accompany each other in satisfactory apparel, especially in work-clothes. If they are well made and do not fit the body, they are subjected to severe strain at certain points which become weak and finally break; at the same time the wearer is uncomfortable and dissatisfied. If they fit and are not well made, they soon rip and otherwise wear out. Needless to say, this is far from satisfactory.

ECONOMY in buying working-clothes lies in obtaining the best at its value. The price paid is only an element of cost. The cost is the price less what you get out of the purchase in service and satisfaction. If you get the worth of your money in service and satisfaction the cost to you is nothing.

To test all of these points wear
